

MCM-Meridian Announces Site to be 403 22nd Avenue

MISSISSIPPI CHILDREN'S MUSEUM- MERIDIAN

*A Signature Project of
The Phil Hardin Foundation*

MEDIA CONTACT

Mary Alex Thigpen
Director of Marketing
maryalex@mcm.ms
P: 601.709.8354

PRESS RELEASE • FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE • 11/07/2017

Meridian, Miss.- The Mississippi Children's Museum (MCM) is pleased to announce the site of the planned Mississippi Children's Museum- Meridian (MCM-M) will be located at 403 22nd Avenue, the current location of an old Sears department store. Also announced in October, the Riley Foundation has joined the Phil Hardin Foundation as a major supporter of the project with a grant for $4 million. Both announcements were made November 7th at 10:30 AM at the MSU Riley Center during a public press conference. In order to safely serve the children of East Mississippi, MCM-M will be constructing a new state-of-the-art facility on the property.

With a grant for $3 million in May of 2016, MCM-M became a signature project of the Phil Hardin Foundation. Executive Director, Lloyd Gray, reflected on their early commitment saying, "The Phil Hardin Foundation recognized early-on that this project will have a tremendously positive impact for children across the socioeconomic spectrum in our community and region. We need to do all we can to stimulate and enhance learning for all children, but especially for those who otherwise wouldn't have access to the type of enrichment experiences the Children's Museum will provide. This investment is at the heart of the Hardin Foundation's educational mission and purpose."

The Riley Foundation President and Treasurer, Marty Davidson, also spoke to their recent grant, "The mission of the Riley Foundation is to improve the quality of life in Lauderdale County. Today, the Riley Foundation is making a four-million-dollar grant, to the Mississippi Children's Museum, that will improve the quality of life for our children, and grandchildren, for many generations to come."

MCM-M has contracted with Wier Boerner Allin, a Mississippi architectural firm, to design the new museum. Design renderings for the 22nd Avenue facility were unveiled at the press conference. Meridian Mayor Percy Bland commented on the project, stating "The City of Meridian is thrilled to work with the Mississippi Children's Museum on a project that will not only expand opportunities for Meridian's youth, but also provide an opportunity for cultural and economic growth in our city." More information regarding the MCM-M project can be found at mschildrensmuseum.org/meridian

About the Mississippi Children’s Museum

The Mississippi Children’s Museum (MCM) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that provides unparalleled experiences that ignite a thirst for discovery, knowledge, and learning in all children. MCM is dedicated to inspiring Mississippi’s children from all backgrounds to discover and achieve their potential. The museum features 40,000 square feet of exhibit space designed around five primary initiatives: Literacy, STEM, Health and Nutrition, Cultural Arts, and Mississippi History. The museum’s exhibits, programs, and outreach opportunities provide engaging, explorative, hands-on educational activities for children of all ages. To learn more about MCM visit www.mschildrensmuseum.org.

About the Riley Foundation

Chartered in January 1998 with $60 million, the mission of The Riley Foundation is to improve the quality of life for the people of Meridian and Lauderdale County, Mississippi. With current assets over $70 million, the Foundation has awarded more than $67 million over the past 20 years, with the majority of funding for education. The Foundations $4 million commitment to the Mississippi Children’s Museum in Meridian will continue to provide educational opportunities for the community.

About the Phil Hardin Foundation

The Phil Hardin Foundation is a statewide education philanthropy based in Meridian. Since 1964, it has followed its founder’s vision to “improve the education of Mississippians” through support of innovative educational initiatives that enhance opportunities for Mississippi children and communities. Phil Hardin was a successful businessman who owned bakeries in Meridian, Jackson, Columbus and Tupelo, and the foundation he started with his personal wealth now has nearly $58 million in assets. Its current grant-making strategy focuses on enhancing all levels of education in Meridian and Lauderdale County and on statewide efforts to improve student achievement in pre-K through 12th grade.

About Wier Boerner Allin

Wier Boerner Allin Architecture is a complete architecture, interior design, and planning services firm based in Jackson, Mississippi that employs some of the best talent in the Southeastern region. Many of WBA’s architects and staff gained professional experience from nationally and internationally recognized design firms across the country before deliberately choosing to reinvest their talents back into Mississippi. The firm is licensed in ten states, from Colorado to South Carolina. Sixty-percent of WBA’s design professionals are licensed architects and the remaining are actively seeking licensure. Due to the strength of their staff and client relationships, Wier Boerner Allin Architecture has been able to successfully compete for several highly sought-after projects. Wier Boerner Allin Architecture has made its mark in the state, with projects such as Babalu, The Iron Horse Grill, the new Dudy Noble Field at Mississippi State University, and the firm’s own home at 2727 Old Canton Road in Jackson – among others. Wier Boerner Allin Architecture takes pride in facing design challenges with a team approach. Principals Jamie Wier, Michael Boerner, and Jack Allin have assembled a team that combines creativity with discipline and focus, allowing WBA to deliver solutions that perfectly meld style with substance. For more information, visit wbaarchitecture.com or follow them on social media @wbaarchitecture

###