JACKSON, Mississippi—Little revelers can make their own outrageous party hat and ring in the new year in style during Mississippi Children’s Museum’s Noon Year’s Eve celebration on Tuesday, December 31 from 9:00 am to 1:00 pm.

Festivities will include countdowns at 10:00 am, 11:00 am, and a grand finale at noon with confetti cannons, and a traditional style countdown with a balloon drop, along with fun musical entertainment.

Throughout the day, children will have the chance to make their own party hats and noise makers, write their personal wish for the coming year, and enjoy special carnival-style games. Galexie Glisten will be joining the party with glisten fun! Your little one can get glistened with no-mess, holographic glitter products for the hair, face, and body in just enough time to ring in the Noon Year!

As another exciting feature of Noon Year’s Eve, MCM’s Journey to the North Pole holiday exhibit will be open. MCM is transformed into a magical winter village of twinkling lights, train cars, and new this year, a child-size post office! Children can use their socks as a skate to glide around our brand-new Reindeer Rink and only a few feet away from the entrance, guests are able to ride down our thrilling 45-foot Snowflake Slide down the center staircase of the museum.

There will be something for everyone at the Mississippi Children’s Museum at Noon Year’s Eve! Admission is $10 for children (ages 1 and up) and adults and free for MCM members.
