Ane' Scott has been recognized as an outstanding volunteer at the Mississippi Children's Museum (MCM) and has been named "Volunteer of the Month" for August.

Scott is a student at Tougaloo College, and she has been volunteering at the museum since high school. She says she volunteers because she loves the environment at the Mississippi Children's Museum. "I love witnessing families spending time together and children learning new things in fun ways," says Scott.

While volunteering at MCM, Scott has learned important lessons in leadership. "Volunteering [at MCM] has taught me a different form of leadership," says Scott, "Leading children in an activity is different than leading adults/peers in an activity."

Sharon Griffin, MCM's Volunteer Coordinator, says volunteers like Ane' are so important to the success of the Mississippi Children's Museum. "We are so grateful for students like Ane' who dedicate their free time to volunteer at MCM," says Griffin.

Scott says she recommends for others to volunteer at The Mississippi Children's Museum. MCM offers volunteer opportunities for youth and adults. To learn more, visit: <https://mschildrensmuseum.org/jackson/get-involved/volunteer/>.

About the Mississippi Children's Museum

The Mississippi Children's Museum (MCM) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that provides unparalleled experiences that ignite a thirst for discovery, knowledge, and learning in all children. MCM is dedicated to inspiring Mississippi's children from all backgrounds to discover and achieve their potential. The museum features 40,000 square feet of exhibit space designed around five primary initiatives: Literacy, STEM, Health and Nutrition, Cultural Arts, and Mississippi History. The museum's exhibits, programs, and outreach opportunities provide engaging, explorative, hands-on educational activities for children of all ages.
